Describe How the Program Supports Family Connections

From the start of a child's placement, biological family members are engaged to participate in team meetings, develop treatment strategies and work to reunify if this is the child's permanency plan. If there are appropriate biological family members involved in the child's life (even if they are not to be reunified), MFC staff members will help them to understand the grief and loss that comes with separation and help them to develop new skills to be supportive to their children. Family counseling, as well as support services (assistance with visitation, increased parenting skills, communication training, etc.) are available to biological families.

Special Interventions Available Internally

Structured and nurturing home environments are supported and cultivated in order to form the best match and most therapeutic environments for children placed in the homes. The treatment team incorporates a multidisciplinary approach in order to provide the most effective intervention and support needed by therapeutic foster parents. Maryhurst residential facilities are available for stabilization as well as respite.
